General Updates

Read Across America Guest Readers: In March, we will celebrate Dr. Seuss's birthday by asking parents to come in to read their favorite book to the class. We will be flexible with the times to accommodate your busy schedules. Both parents are more than welcome to join in on our reading fun! If you want to be a guest reader, please e-mail me a day and a time that would work for you to come to read your favorite book with the class. We CANNOT have readers at 11:00-11:50, 12:25-1:10, and 3:05-3:35. The rest of our day starting around 9:15ish, we should be able to fit you in!

Art Field Trip - We could use at least one more chaperone for our field trip on March 6th from 10:30-11:30 at the NC Art Museum. All you need to do is walk with a group of students and make sure they are listening and NOT touching the art. 😊

Math Word Problems: I am sending home word problems for extra practice. I would recommend cutting them up so the student does not get in a habit of 'oh, this page is all addition problems,' but really THINKING about the story and what's going on in it. The class expectation is that for each problem they have (1) Bar Model with story labels and units, (2) an equation, (3) one way to solve the problem, and (4) another way to check their answer. This is heavy work, so 1 or 2 problems a night is PLENTY!

Academic Highlights

Reading

Readers can read out loud and in their heads, scoop words in longer phrases (look for punctuation, does it make sense, does it sound right?), and talk like the characters (dialogue tags).

Writing

Writers write letters to explain their opinions.

Math

We can set up word problems using part-part-whole mats to determine if we are adding or subtracting.

Science or Social Studies

I can study famous Americans and the impact that they made on our history.

I can study weather.
